Pair programming on gather town

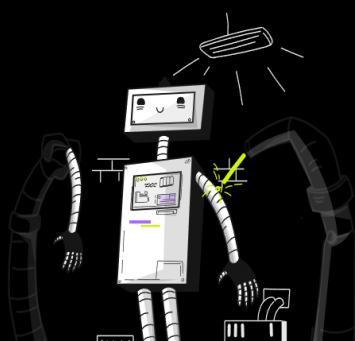

Pair programming on gather town is a great way to collaborate with team members or learn from a peer. With Gather Town's customizable virtual environments, you can create a collaborative coding space and share your screen with your partner. This allows you to work together on the same codebase in real-time, which can improve code quality, reduce errors, and increase productivity

Performance and Security Fix

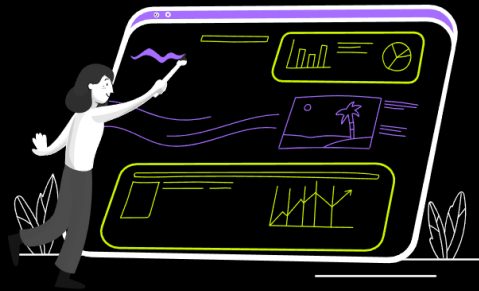

Maintaining website performance and security is critical for any business, even those that operate mainly through a no-code website. Without proper optimization and security measures, your website can become sluggish and vulnerable to cyber-attacks and breaches.

End to End testing

End-to-End (E2E) testing is an essential part of website development as it ensures that the website works as expected from the user's perspective. With the rise of no-code platforms, E2E testing has also become accessible to non-technical users. No code E2E testing tools allow users to create and run automated tests without writing a single line of code.
